Edited by Hubert Heinelt, Darmstadt University of Technology, Germany., Björn Egner, Technische Universität Darmstadt, Germany and Nikolaos-Komninos Hlepas, University of Athens, Greece

Series: Routledge Studies in Governance and Public Policy

Some cities manage to mobilize innovation potentials and respond to challenges, such as demographic change and immigration as well as economic restructuring, while others do not. This book solves this problem by answering the following question: What are the conditions for the development of local innovation? This book will be of interest to scholars and students of political science and policy analysis, as well as sociology, geography, urban studies, and planning. It will also interest local politicians and bureaucrats concerned with achieving innovation in cities.
